

How People & Systems Talk Today

Every interaction requires a person to manually bridge the gap between their need and the system

The Real Cost of Manual Processes

Every manual step is time, money, and risk your business absorbs silently

3.5 hrs

lost per employee
per day on manual lookups

4–6 min

avg wait time per manual data request

0%

productivity during
waiting & follow-ups

App Switching Fatigue

Employees toggle between 5–8 apps to complete a single task. Every switch breaks focus and wastes time.

Training Overhead

Each new hire needs training on every system. IT admin manually grants access per app, per person.

Data Entry Errors

Manual re-entry of the same data across multiple systems causes errors, duplicates, and reconciliation headaches.

Zero Visibility

No centralised log of who did what, when. Compliance, audits and disputes become painful.

Approval Bottlenecks

Decisions wait for the right person to be available. WhatsApp groups become informal approval chains.

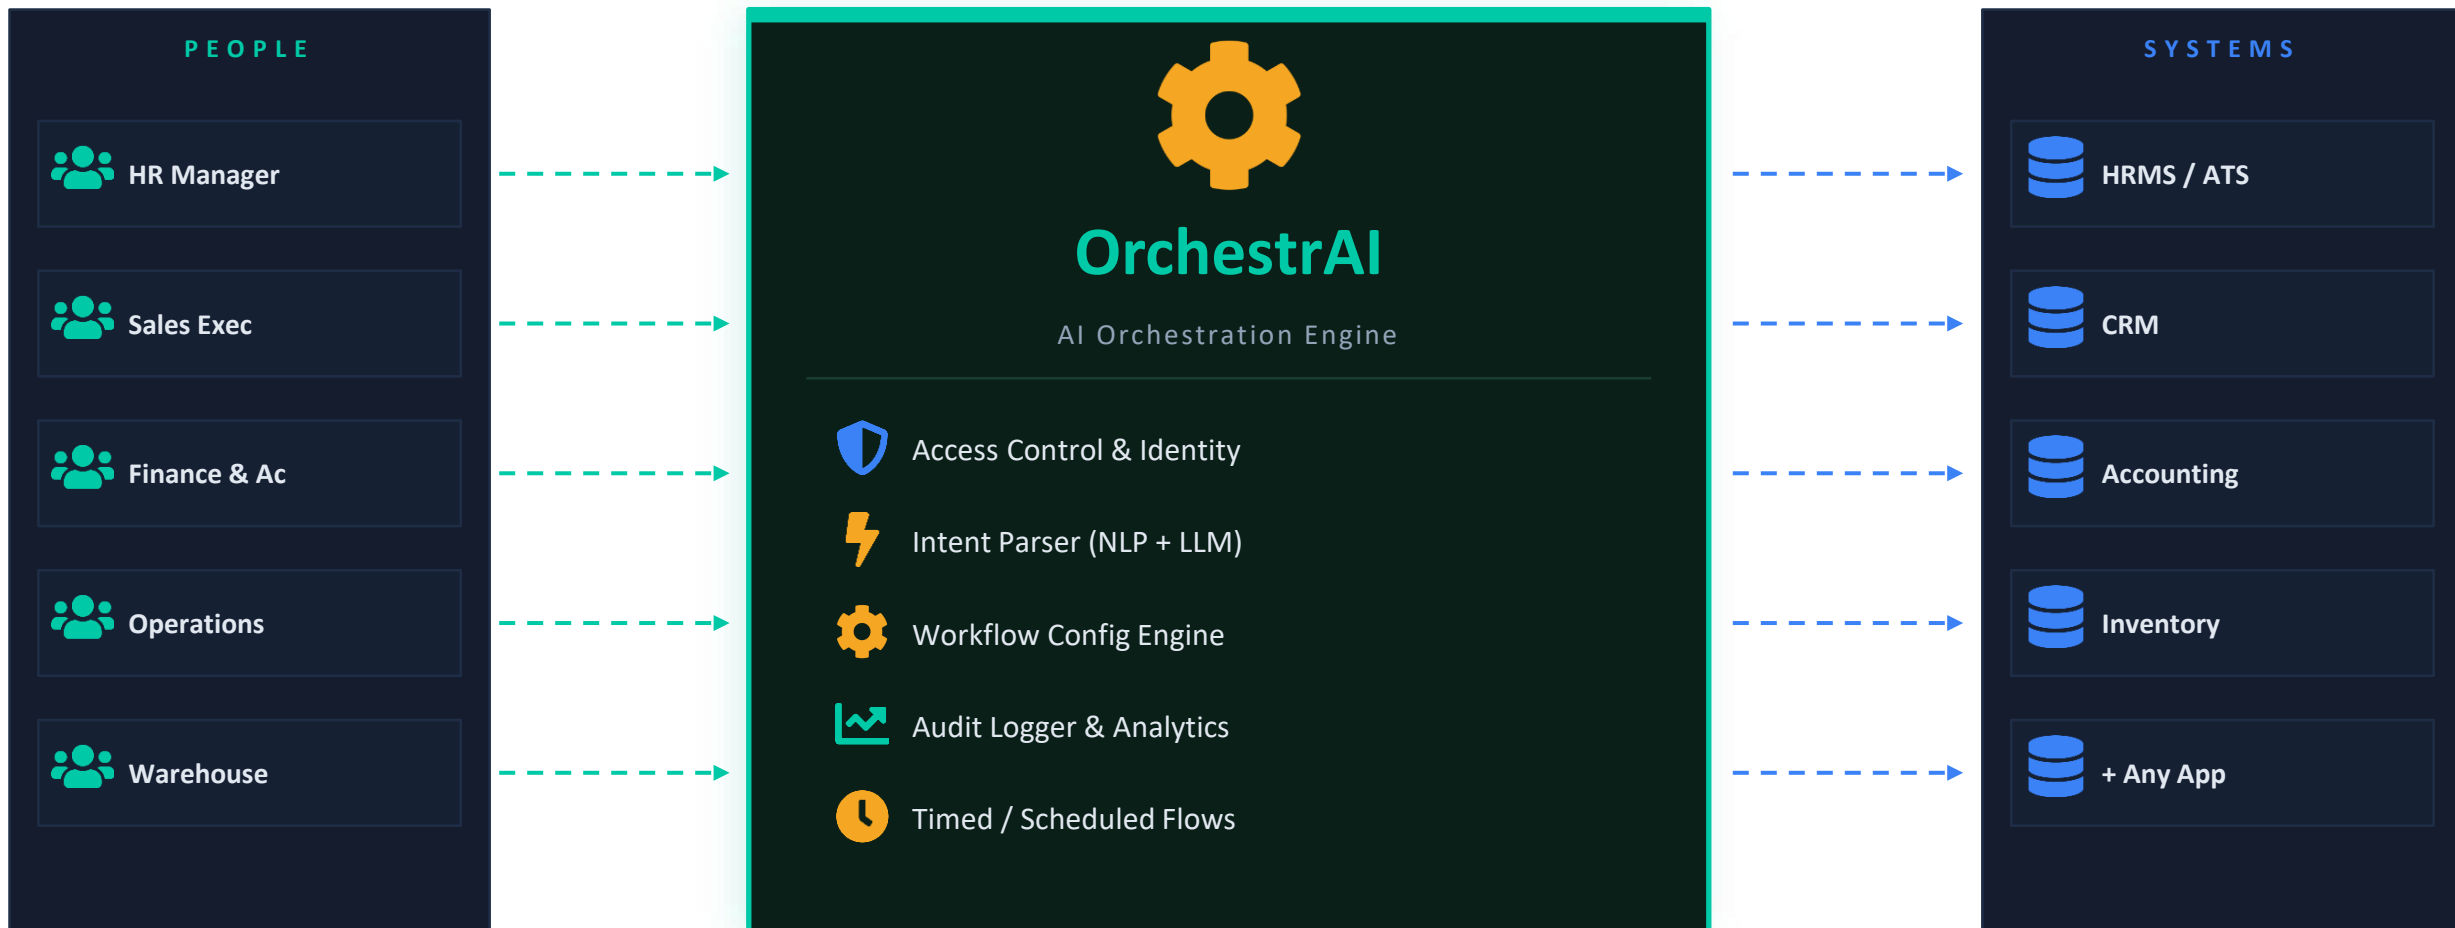

Knowledge Dependency

When a key person leaves, the institutional knowledge of how to operate these systems walks out with them.

Introducing

A central intelligence layer that connects your people to all your business systems — automatically

One layer replaces all manual bridges. People ask in plain language. Systems respond automatically.
